"As long as men hold different opinions, have different amounts of wealth, and own different amounts of property, they will continue to fraternize with those people who are most similar to them. Both serious and trivial reasons account for the formation of factions, bimportant source of faction is the unequal distribution of property. Today Blockchain offers us a chance to reclaim the cries of liberty from every age and ensure that "Governments must not only protect the conflicting interests of property owners but also must successfully regulate the conflicts between those with and without property."
