Contemplations on the process of Peace in the energy forecast for the new Solar Year:

The Solar forecast for this earth plane, Gaia, is one of deep cleansing, purifying, and balancing. The forecast for the mundane tonal arena or Maya and the bullies that manipulate, run, and rule it, is very precarious for them and their minions. No matter what the power grabbers and obfuscators undertake, they cannot continue the age-old, redundant storyline of universal suppression, submission, and bloodletting of the human race as a collateral of their unholy alliance and unlawful incorporation of assets, wholly owned and operated by their tiny class of usurpers and marauders.

The long season of their malpractice in all areas of claiming custody over this earth is being exposed exponentially and terminated within the framework of the current cosmic neutrino stream. Its solar energy is composing a new collective scenario for humanity as the true guardians and keepers of this earth. A new script always starts with individual trailblazers and torchbearers exhibiting deep and sober Insight in the malaise and suffering of earth itself and all her inhabitants. Even if the quasi-rulers run amok and remain fully ignorant of the malignant destruction they cause and/or participate in, even seem to thrive under, they are not exempt from suffering the results of the collective malaise and degeneracy.

There is no place on this or any other planet to run to and hide from the results of their life-threatening malpractices. Their voracious, viral spreading of degenerative disease is also eating them from within the construct of their own physiology and mental perversion. They simply lack the creativity to fundamentally turn things around by participating affirmatively in the process of deep cleansing, purifying, realizing, and returning to the transpersonal reality of inward focused truth. Creativity can only well up from within the depth of the sentient human soul. It is the beginning, ending, and completion of any process of veritable truth seeking. It requires personal commitment to seeing and following the mysterious pathways to authentically embodying one's Inner Truth.

Contemplations on the position of the Modesty of the Wallflower (15.4) archetype and understanding the Extremes on the tonal playing field by the human collective:

You are wondering about the significance and the manifestation in real terms of the concept of graduation. As various aspects of your focus today have indicated already, it concerns a deep dive within the construct of your physical navigational vessel. It is your own body that forms the portal into a new world of frequency and tonality. And indeed, you find yourself on the threshold of truly entering and moving through that same portal you have inhabited all your life.

Or, if you will, like the Fool card in the tarot deck or your defined formulization of pleasure and irresponsibility through Youthful Folly in gate 4, you are about to step off the edge of the cliff, unencumbered and confidently. This is Saying Yes willing to take a dive into the Abysmal deep of the deep and the potential depth of your Talent in order to blossom into the fullness of its as yet unexplored potential. In its zest for achievement, the willful masculine Hunter part of you wants to make things happen, stalking and pouncing your prey in the Objective framework of your tribal territory.

Yet, it is your innate feminine side that displays your Inner Peace patiently and has the acquiescent willingness to wait for the designated moment in which to enter the arena. Until then, she is glad to observe the action unfold on the mundane playing field without a care of how the game or spectacle is going to end. The outcome of falling into your own Depth is here nor there. Your ego nor the deliberations of your defined mind are to be heavily invested in the ultimate outcome of your presence in the arena of the human collective dreamscape.

You have not placed any particular bets on winning any of the games being played. You simply have come here to thoroughly enjoy the entire spectacle unfold from the vantage point of a flowering position on the sidelines of the action-packed arena. After all, you are defined to externalize as a player there in the role of a Wallflower. Even if that seems to entail a contradiction in terms, it is part and parcel of the terms and conditions of your soul agreement. So, regardless of chaos and destruction, simply observe your own blossoming from within your Self selflessly like any loving, caring parent is naturally inclined to do no matter what.

One doesn't obstruct the growth and blossoming of one's own child setting the boundaries and occupying its own private territory in the playground. It all enhances the unique expression of your individual Insight – you simply know what you know unapologetically. Neither is there a need to tweak or edit the way in which you play the various roles you have chosen to deliver in the overall production of human reality. After all, your authentic role playing is not that of being a heroic protagonist or antagonist on center stage. Your strength is to fade into the background and hone your skills of subterfuge action.

You are designated to function as one of the Army of Doulas facilitating the Breakthrough and Fusion of a new reality imagined within the dark recesses of a mind inspired by the Mystery of your Inner Truth. Embrace the unique channels of your own imagination with which you have been so abundantly endowed. All that is required from you is paying attention in the now to the Acuteness and Utilization of the Gentle inner voice of intuition. It can be clearly perceived in the stillness/silence of your physical abode and its surroundings. You have no problem accessing, acquiescing to, and amplifying your unique set of innate talents and honed skills within the current dynamics of transformation, transmutation, and transfiguration of tonal dissonance into a new harmonic resonance of a higher octave.

These are the natural dynamics of an ongoing evolutionary process – a discovery tour of what it is to be human in time and space. All facets come into play in making up and then shattering the virtual hall of mirrors reflecting endless fractals of one cosmic reality that is, was, and always shall be. Nothing in this eternal process remains untouched or unblemished. Yet, there is no blame to be dispensed from within its construct; playing the blame game as a victimized participant or innocent bystander is missing the point entirely. It truly is without intrinsic value in the run up to the imminent graduation event. Nor is it about winning or losing; as a potential graduate, one has succeeded and is triumphantly emerging from the dust and rubble on the battlefield into a new resonant playing field.

Individual expansion with Grace/Openness

People's minds are in turmoil and utter confusion. Fear-based hysteria cannot be remedied with sharing pragmatic observations and assessments. A stampede of wildebeests cannot be deterred from tracking towards their impending demise charging off a cliff. Such disaster simply has to run its course, even if it may seem to be a heart-breaking, senseless unfolding of a tragedy that is uncalled for.

However, that does not imply it is without purpose. Everything is part and parcel of a universal learning process through personal, tribal, and collective experiences and experimentation. And Indeed, you can learn a lot from sober, pragmatic observation of all that is occurring within the projection field surrounding you. In other words, not-doing is a valuable experience in contra-distinction to throwing yourself into the heat of physical, mental, and emotional battles within the confines of the tonal arena.

Simply observing the madness on the battlefield is the prerogative of the spiritual/peaceful warrior. It requires a much greater degree of Self-discipline to be still and observe the human predicament with understanding of and compassion for the raw nature of things than to be provoked and engage in physical or mentally deranged warfare, regardless of the gaming platform or artificially contrived, tangible battlefield.

A free thinker or true sovereign is someone able to emerge triumphantly and unscathed. To be a fighter, muzzling or killing off your opponents, doesn't take more than to be an obedient pawn in the grip of a menacing outer authority. In fact, it doesn't even require courage to get yourself enlisted in that kind of warfare—it only takes fear and self-interest rooted in quantification and qualification protocols. Whatever the level of engagement, it is gambling and betting on what you hope to be a winning ticket. All of such engagements are nothing less than participating in endgames.

The peaceful warrior, who is awakened to the direction of the authentic Self always is victorious, for he or she cannot be bought or sold in denial of the one's Higher Self. Authentic Self-realized power always is triumphant, regardless of the games being played out to their bitter endings on the tonal projection field. The wise and fully Self-aware navigator emerges out of the chaos of any helter-skelter proceedings intact. By definition, Spirit cannot be harmed in any manner or format while journeying through any tonal projection field or holographic configuration in space and time.

The Spirit cannot suffer by experiencing the tonal even within the vaults of the lowest time-space frequencies. For It, time and space have no essential meaning or reality. Spirit simply is, was, and ever shall be, no matter what format of Self-expression or vessel of navigation It temporarily chooses to occupy in the unfathomable vastness of Infinity. Whether a human mind believes such reality or not, it simply is what It is.

When you consider retreating in an upside-down world that has run its course, you are in a position to imagine a new world, which is a new territory of exploration and providence. Then, you can stalk your dream and fully surrender into its embrace. It is engaging in a new world without struggle or lacking anything: it comprises the not-doing of the Great Work that simply unfolds through being present to the Present. It is enlivening all of you in the here and now. It is a retreat from the redundant topsy-turvy old set-up, that kept you hanging and spellbound for a season or cycle, coming to the realization of is true and what is not. It simply allows you to pierce through the veil of mystery to forge ahead into the center of the Wheel of Time or the Still-point of Nothingness. You do so from within a stance of inner strength and knowing. The same swords that caused you sorrow and suffering now serve you to slay the dragon blocking the way to your inner treasure of unlimited abundance. It provokes you to taking action and to forging ahead on your unique path of freedom and Self-fulfillment. This path shall lead you beyond the Wheel of Time and the eternal Abracadabra feedback loop of endless, artificially contrived repetitions and permutating regurgitations pulling you back to the same starting point every time, and ultimately, keeping you stuck in the allegorical labyrinth of the minotaur. The potency of your imagination is truly boundless.

15 Modesty/Extremes → 10 Treading/Behavior of the Self ← 58 the Joyous/Aliveness

The stalemate between opposing forces on the mundane playing field I simply a delaying tactic vis-à-vis the ultimate breakup of old patterns of increasing inequity among people reduced to being disposable pawns on a chess board. The game of chess in and of itself is a redundancy of dissipating and wasting energy when it comes to the predominant value that is traded on the next octave of collective human existence.

There, pre-occupations with playing chess will clearly be shown and proven to be a fool's game or errand. Nevertheless, there are plenty of fools left here at this point in time. Yet, from a higher frequency perspective, it is already very apparent to more and more people, that all of worldly leadership of the old kind is indeed engaged and invested in an endgame. It is a drain of energy, and hence, all currencies, hard and virtual, are focused towards and applied to the upward distribution of material and illusionary wealth to the few that have been ruling and mismanaging this planet for so long.

Their time to continue doing so has run its course; there is no turning back to pioneering, establishing, and maintaining the old eras of demonically induced and artificially constructed hierarchies of power, control, and material wealth. A six-thousand years epoch of rest and Winter hibernation in the Northern hemisphere is here now. This half of the globe and its planetary influence sphere has been drained of true spirit and soul sustaining value and fecundity. Thereby, it has been laid to waste on all levels of human caring and nourishment. The Northern hemisphere, once again, is in need of a long Winter season to recover from the age-old draining of the oils and minerals of the earth.

This is a cyclical, organic process of systemic recovery that cannot be rushed by those who have caused the damage ever since the last Leonine Age at the close of the last great Summer season in the Northern hemisphere, sometimes referred to as the Golden Age or Yuga. Already back then, the human collective had passed its prime directive of soul soothing, spirit guided co-existence. Conversely, the emergence out of the current yuga of dark destruction and Self-annihilation will be slow and steady, eventually, leading to the dawn of a new Golden Era of human Self-fulfillment on this plane and vibrational configuration of human existence.

Yet, for those souls, who have prepared themselves to graduate and step across the threshold of the current octave onto the next, the entire construct and dynamic of time-space progression and regression cycles shall no longer apply. For them, a new, as yet unexplored universe and symphony of plasma spheres shall be perceived from deep within and its outward projection shall unfold without in as-yet unfathomable ways of Self-expression. It cannot be described to nor comprehended by the bicameral minds of the humans of this dispensation, even those who are about to graduate.

As of yet, the entry into the new world of form is still an unfathomable unknowable event, that welcomes and embraces them with wide open arms. Metaphorically, these open arms are to be understood as unending extensions into an Infinite realm of ongoing exploration and creation. It is not to be understood as a slow march of the snail-paced human journey on the earth plane you have been familiar with for an entire cycle of human evolution. That is part and parcel of the old paradigm, an outlived metaphor, and redundant storylines. The graduate's entry into the new universe vibrating in the frequency of the higher octave is a veritable leap of well-founded faith.

“Some old evolved souls are not meant to live in these modern times and struggle all their life through it. But nevertheless, the one with so many names manifests them in physical form on Mother Earth so they can remind and teach people of the old ways. They live all their life not to fulfill the hopes and values of the masses by pursuing physical success, power and wealth, but their treasure is love, enlightenment and peace and they are only here to serve the one spirit source. These old souls only see from their ancient eyes and feel from their ancient heart, so they will have a powerful connection to nature and the stars. These highly evolved souls never feel comfortable on Mother Earth and are very sensitive to the energies of other life, they are introverts that find a serenity when they are alone. They do not seek fame or attention because of the many gifts they possess, but a few will have it thrust upon them by others. These old evolved souls do not depend on other people or world events to determine their emotions, for they know love and peace can only come from within no matter what the circumstances from their external surroundings. As they become older, they increasingly become detached from the energy of others. It is said old souls make up one percent of the world population. Ekosi.”
